Twenty-Three Bodies Recovered in Colorado.

MANY YET IN BURNING TUNNEL.

If Opening Had Been Shut Off at the Beginning of the Fire, Loss of Life Might Have Been Averted Altogether.

TELLURIDE, Col., Nov. 21-Twentythree bodies have been recovered from the Bullion Tunnel in the Smuggler Union Mine in Marshall Basin, through which the flames have been eating their way since early yesterday morning. Hugh O'Neill, the engineer, was taken our alive, but is not expected to recover. Of the rest of the 200 men who were imprisoned in the workings by the outbreak of the fire, there is but scant news, although some small parties are known to have escaped.

Started in Bunk House.

The fire started in the tramway bunk house of the Pullion Tunnel, the principal opening of the mine, at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Flames quickly lapped up the boiler and engine house, ore bins, and other frame structures above ground. A strong draught blew the smoke from the burning buildings directly into the tunnel, and the miles of drifts, upraiser, and steps connecting with it began rap-ielly to fill with blinding fumes. In the excitement of trying to control the fire in the outbuildings, the mine was forgotten for a few minutes, and between the situation was realized the workings were fast filling with dense smoke. By this time the buildings about the mouth of the tunnel were all ablaze, and nothing could be done to stop the smoke from goforgotten for a few minutes, and before

As soon as it was possible great bodies of rock were blown down into the tunnel mouth, and the opening stopped, but not until the workings were filled by the smoke working its way through the whater. shafts.

Men Caught in a Trap.

The day shift, some 200 men, had gone into the mine and reached their stations before the fire started, and it was realized that many must be suffocated before it was possible to rescue them. As soon as the men became aware of their danger, efforts were made to reach the surface through the various exits and about half of those in the mine escaped.

The Smuggler Union is one of the oldest mines in the district, and has several abandoned openings, some of which were available. Most of those who escaped did so through the old Union workings and the old Sheridan tunnel. One of the mine captains led a party of thirteen in safety through an old Union entrance.

Is Layed Out.

The residents of block 7, Le Droit Park, have been subjected to considerable inconvenience on account of the peculiar form of the alleys in the square. As the square is now laid out there are two blind alleys, one ten feet wide, and one ening. fifteen feet wide. It is proposed by the property holders interested to change natters by closing the blind alleys, and by opening others which will conform with the usual plan of streets. The preliminaries for this change are now being made.

FOOD STOPPED IT.

Good Food Worth More Than a Gold Mine.

To find a food that will put an absolute stop to "running down" is better than finding a gold mine. Many people when they begin to run down go from one food nother and and it impossible to find a that will stop the progress of dis-grape-Nuts Food is the most nourishing known, and will set one right if

The First Witness Called.

The first witness called was Thomas Francis, who drew the large plat of the Kenmore Hotel which faced the jury. He is Assistant Inspector of Buildings for the District of Columbia. He testified that the plat represented truthfully the fourth floor of the hotel as prepared by scale. He said that Ayres' room was 18 feet 5 inches in length, and 7 feet 11 inches wide. He gave the detailed measurements of the floor and ceiling and was excused at 12:25, when a recess was taken until 1:15 o'clock.

Photographs of Ayres' Room. When the court reconvened Henry A. Wise, a photographer, was called and took the wirness stand. He identified several photographs of the interior of the room occupied by young Ayres as those taken by himself on the day following the tragedy. He pointed out the blood stains on the carpet, which appeared as blurs in the

"I offer these photographs as evidence," said District Atterney Gould. "I object, on the ground that the condition of the room may have been chang ed between the time of the finding of the body and the time of taking the photo graphs," interposed Attorney Douglass. After some argument Justice Anderson overruled the objection and the photographs became Government exhibits.

Julius Hack, another photographer, a German, who speaks little English, was next called and identified a photograph of the exterior of the Kenmore Hotel. This photograph was also admitted as an ex-

Found Ayres' Dend Body.

Daniel Woodhouse, a middle-aged colored man, was next called. He is a waiter employed at 1518 I Street northwest. He was the man who discovered the dead oody of Ayres on the morning of May 15. In response to a query as to what caused him to go to Ayres' room on the morning

"Well, I'll tell you. Miss Minas told me to go up and wake up Mr. Ayres. She said she had heard a noise in the room. "I went up and rapped. Then I looked through the keyhole. There I saw the body lying on the floor. I went downstairs and told Mr. Warfield. He came up with me and we got a step ladder.

TO TEST GREAT DRYDOCK.

Battleship Illinois Sent to New Orleans for This Purpose.

The battleship Illinois has left Newpor News for New Orleans for the purpose of testing the new floating steel drydock recently towed to Algiers, La., and now located there permanently. The collier Sterling, a much smaller vessel, will be first put into the dock, and if the test is successful the battleship will be sent in

The expectation among officials here is that both tests will be satisfactory, and that the previous insufficient accommodations along the Gulf Coast for rapidly repairing accidental injuries to Government vessels will be remedied.

A WOIGEN IN MOY'S OIL. It Caused an Explosion and a $76 Damage to the Laundry.

George Moy has an enemy. He is just as sure of this as he is that he runs a laundry at 734 Tenth Street northwest. Some time yesterday while Moy was not looking this enemy put a Woegen in the oil which he burns in his lamps. A Woegen is the soul of something in Chinese which bursts when it is confined to a too narrow space. It is werse than the giant cracker and the skyrocket.

Last night it was in George Moy's lamp and it exploded while Moy was entertain ng several of his friends. When the lan coursted the Woegen threw oil over the clothing of those assembled and set fire to the interior of the laundry. Someone sent in an alarm and Engine Company No. 14 responded and put the blaze out presence of the Woegen in the oil will cost Moy $75. This is the coup which has been prepared by the Government for the United States, in order, it is said, that a slender little woman may break down, and in her agony make some statement which shall be caught up by an official stenographer and used against her in the battle for her life.

NATURE'S ODD REMEDIES. Medical Properties Found in Common Vegetables.

There seems no excuse for the continual use of drugs if the same remedial effects are to be found in the more palatable form of vegetables and fruits. Does the system demand sulphur? We find it in turnips, onlons, cabbage, cauliflower, watercress, and horseradish. The much-maligned potato is rich in salts of potash. French beans and lentils give iron. Watercress contains a sulpho-nitrogenous essential oil, iodine, iron, phosphate, and other saits, and spinach saits of potassium and iron in such quantities that the French term, it "the broom of the stomach," and food specialists rate it as the most precious of vegetables.

In case of anemia, cabbage, cauliflower, and spinach proved distinctly beneficial. "Love apples," our modern tomato, stimulated the healthy action of the liver. Asparagus was beneficial in kidney troubles. Celery was a sure cure for rheumatista and neuralgia. The carrot formed blood and added to the beauty of the skin. Beets and turnips kept the blood pure and imprived the appetite. Watercress, like 23-paragus, was good for the kidneys and was a stimulant to mind and body. Lettuce was extremely beneficial for tired nerves and the lassitude peculiar to spring.

Parsiey proved an excellent tonic and mon Vegetables.

herves and the lassitude petulial by spring.

Parsley proved an excellent tonic and also cleared the complexion, while the whole array of "greens," mustard, cowsit, horseradish, dock dandelions, yourgbeet tons, and even stalks of milk weed were religiously added to the springtime bill of fare to clear the blood, regulate the system, and remove that the feeling so closely associated with the vernal season.—Chicago Post.
